

Nate Talbot: Executive Director, Detroit Blockchain Center

---

Nate Talbot is a Business Consultant and Blockchain specialist who works with individuals and organizations interested in learning about bitcoin, blockchains, and other crypto related fields to help them determine if adoption is right for them.

He has helped and supported organizations, educational institutions, and companies of all sizes determine if implementing blockchain tech is useful for them and how best to design an implementation beneficial for them.

Nate has been advising businesses in systems & operations, branding, intellectual property rights, and creative contracting since 1999, giving him a unique view of Bitcoin and crypto and the many ways it can have an impact.

Currently, Nate serves as Executive Director of the Detroit Blockchain Center, a 501(c)3 Michigan non-profit education and advocacy group, focused on financial & digital literacy and blockchain education.

Learn more and get in touch with Nate at <https://DetroitBlockchainCenter.com>